

Figure S7
Maximum likelihood steroid receptor phylogeny with chi-square support statistics for each node. Support statistics were calculated using PHYML software based on the approximate likelihood ratio for each node. The chi-square support represents 1 - p, where p is the estimated probability that the degree of support observed for the labeled node would occur by chance if the node is false.

